FUNDRAISING AS A CRITICAL INSTRUMENT FOR IMPROVING GRADUATE EDUCATION

CRYSTAL/CONTINENTAL

In times of financial stress private fundraising is both more essential and more challenging. This workshop will explore how a graduate school can secure philanthropic support when it has to compete with undergraduate colleges and professional schools on universities' fundraising priority lists. Deans will share best practices on how to implement targeted fundraising for the graduate school within the larger context of the university. They will also address the use of internal and external strategies for collaboration for setting priorities and communicating development objectives within and among university units.

Speaker: Katie Busch, Assistant Dean and Senior Director, Development and Alumni Relations, Laney Graduate School, Emory University

Speaker: Steven Matson, Dean, Graduate School, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Speaker: John Stevenson, Dean, Graduate School, University of Colorado at Boulder

Speaker: Lisa Tedesco, Vice Provost, Academic Affairs and Graduate Studies and Dean, Laney Graduate School, Emory University

ASSESSMENT AND REVIEW OF GRADUATE PROGRAMS— DOCTORAL

WINDSOR COMPLEX

This workshop will address issues related to the evaluation of doctoral programs. It will focus on outcomes assessment and external reviews as well as reviews conducted by regional accrediting commissions. In addition, novel approaches to internal and continuous assessment of program quality will be discussed. The facilitators will present best practices for external reviews, describe the planning and implementation of outcomes assessment, and then discuss ways to integrate the two forms of evaluation to enhance the quality of doctoral education.

Speaker: Nancy A. Busch, Dean, Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Fordham University

Speaker: Barbara Knuth, Vice Provost and Dean, Cornell University

Speaker: Henning Schroeder, CGS/NSF Dean in Residence

9:00 AM - 11:30 AMMORNING WORKSHOPS (CONTINUED)*ASSESSMENT AND REVIEW OF GRADUATE PROGRAMS—MASTER'S BAYSIDE/STRAND

Assuring quality is central to effective management of graduate programs. This workshop will address the evaluation of master's-level programs and emphasize outcomes-based assessment. A best practices summary will be followed by descriptions of outcomes assessment, representing various stages in the development of the assessment process. The facilitators will discuss strategies for making program assessment meaningful and manageable, dealing with faculty resistance, assessing student learning, integrating outcomes assessment with program review, and meeting accreditation requirements.

Speaker: Robert Augustine, Chair, Board of Directors, Council of Graduate Schools and Dean, Graduate School, Eastern Illinois University

Speaker: Maria Di Stefano, Associate Provost and Dean, Graduate Studies, Truman State University

Speaker: Susan Pocotte, Associate Dean, Academic Affairs, University of Toledo

TECHNOLOGY SOLUTIONS FOR TRACKING STUDENT PROGRESS POINTE

How are graduate schools using technology for purposes of assessment and accountability? This workshop will provide a hands-on experience with two different systems offered by universities that have successful student tracking programs. Graduate deans will demonstrate technology-based tools that enable collection of student progress and achievement data serving departments, colleges and graduate schools. Workshop participants will experience two different systems that help identify obstacles in student progress and also provide positive information about student success.

Speaker: Nancy Marcus, Dean, Graduate School, Florida State University

Speaker: William Russel, Dean, Graduate School, Princeton University

ENGAGING SOCIAL MEDIA TO IMPROVE GRADUATE SCHOOL SERVICES PALM/SUNSET

Use of technology is critical to a 21st-century graduate school and most graduate deans have developed strategies for enhancing functionality and operations. However, social media can also assist in implementing effective communication strategies, creating innovative approaches to information and using the interactivity of Web 2.0 efficiently. This session will provide an overview of social media, discuss principles and implementation strategies, and share promising practices as well as lessons learned. Please BYOD (bring your own device).

Speaker: Karen DePauw, Vice President and Dean, Graduate Education, Virginia Tech

Speaker: Karen Klomparens, Associate Provost for Graduate Education and Dean, Graduate School, Michigan State University

ADDRESSING CHALLENGING GRADUATE STUDENT SITUATIONS: COASTAL/SURF COMPREHENSIVE APPROACHES AND TECHNIQUES

This workshop will help graduate deans and staffs recognize and deal with difficult graduate student situations. Topics and case studies will include the broad scope of student problems (alcohol, drugs, mental health concerns and stress); how issues manifest themselves; Title IX complaints; faculty concerns; harassment; veiled and direct threats; suicide ideation and self-harm; and how best to use a variety of campus resources.

Speaker: Lee Bird, Vice President, Office of Student Affairs, Oklahoma State University

Speaker: Sheryl Tucker, Associate Provost for Graduate Education and Dean, Graduate College, Oklahoma State University

LEGAL ISSUES

POINTE

This workshop will cover a wide range of legal issues affecting graduate students, including but not limited to race conscious admissions, recent developments in patent law, handling student misconduct cases, and working with university counsel. There will be time reserved for an open Q&A with the audience.

Speaker: Daniel Park, Chief Campus Counsel, University of California, San Diego

FOSTERING CAREER AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT:

PALM/SUNSET

MENTORING ACROSS THE STUDENT, FACULTY, AND INSTITUTIONAL DIVIDES

Are students and faculty on the same page about professional development needs? Does your institution facilitate graduate student career success? How can your graduate school bring stakeholders together around critical issues in career and professional development? Using Michigan State's Career Success and PREP models as case studies, this interactive workshop will help you plan coherent partnerships and programs across campus, and explore research-based methods for measuring their outcomes.

Speaker: Henry Campa, Associate Dean, Graduate School, Michigan State University

Speaker: Judith Stoddart, Associate Dean, Graduate School, Michigan State University

GRADUATE SCHOOLS' ROLE IN FINANCIAL AID

BAYSIDE/STRAND

While deans have long been aware of forms of support such as assistantships and fellowships, graduate schools are increasingly engaged with need-based aid and other loans as part of the financial package and support for graduate students. This session will discuss an array of funding sources and prepare graduate deans to ensure that optimal packages and information about funding options are offered to students.

Speaker: Charles Caramello, Associate Provost for Academic Affairs and Dean, Graduate School, University of Maryland, College Park

Speaker: Paul Gemperline, Dean, Graduate School, East Carolina University

Speaker: Carol Hartupee, Student Financial Aid Officer, University of California, San Diego

ACHIEVING DIVERSITY, INCLUSIVENESS, AND EXCELLENCE: APPROACHES THAT WORK

WINDSOR COMPLEX

Increasing the participation and graduation of underrepresented groups in graduate education is a national imperative. Leaders from institutions with successful diversity and inclusion programs will describe strategies and techniques implemented on their campuses that have resulted in increased applications from students from underrepresented populations and admissions of students from these groups into graduate programs. Speakers will also describe successful approaches to increasing retention and graduation of underrepresented students in graduate programs.

Speaker: Dwight McBride, Associate Provost and Dean, Graduate School, Northwestern University

Speaker: Alycia Mosley-Austin, Director, Graduate Recruitment and Diversity Initiatives, Graduate School, University of Rhode Island

Speaker: Janet Rutledge, Vice Provost and Dean, Graduate School, University of Maryland, Baltimore County

ONLINE GRADUATE EDUCATION: ESTABLISHING, MANAGING AND SUPPORTING SUCCESSFUL PROGRAMS

CRYSTAL/CONTINENTAL

Few institutions have not been affected by the recent, rapid growth of online education. Online, distance programs pose special challenges for universities in areas of organizational structure, technological infrastructure, program funding, faculty engagement and development, student services, assessment and accreditation. This workshop will examine some of the challenges and potential solutions associated with the delivery of quality online graduate education.

Speaker: Suzanne Ortega, Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs, UNC General Administration

Speaker: Sarah Pratt, Vice Provost for Graduate Programs, University of Southern California

Speaker: David Wittrock, Dean, College of Graduate and Interdisciplinary Studies, North Dakota State University

ADVOCATING ON BEHALF OF GRADUATE EDUCATION

COASTAL/SURF

Become a stronger advocate for graduate education within and outside of your institution. Employers and policymakers have all too often focused on undergraduate education and professional schools as representing the breadth of higher education, overlooking master's and doctoral programs. Graduate school deans, faculty and students need to understand what policy and political obstacles exist. Learn to leverage your program's strengths into powerful and effective advocacy.

BREAKING NEW GROUND: COMPARATIVE METRICS FOR DISSERTATIONS

Breakfast open to all attendees

ProQuest is in the process of creating metrics for use by universities that will shed light on productivity and usage of dissertations. The metrics will answer questions such as: "How does our department's dissertation usage and productivity compare to our peer universities?" and "Which universities across the globe are most heavily using the dissertations created at our university?" Attendees of this lively, interactive session will not only learn ProQuest's plans in this area, but also be able to provide feedback to guide ProQuest's development.
